Shiraz

COLOUR

Opaque Purple

AROMA & PALATE

Sourced from vines planted on the prized ancient red Cambrian soils of Heathcote (said to be among the oldest soil in the world—over 500 million years). Generous up front vibrant dark fruits of black plum, cherry, blackberry. Cloves and vanillin spice. Hints of smoky oak and just the right amount of black pepper. All wrapped up in a mouthful of plush supple tannins that keep the party rolling.

DRINK

Made for steak nights, barbecues and pretty well anything from the thickly cut section of the butcher's window. Go bravely into the night...

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT US

94 POINTS – VINO MASTERS

“Dark and generous aromatically, showing blackberry, ripe plum and liquorice layered with spice, dark chocolate and a subtle earthy edge. The palate is medium bodied with plush dark fruit flowing across the entry before fine tannins tighten the wine through the mid-palate. Blackberry, mocha and spice build with impressive intensity, while balanced acidity keeps the wine energetic and composed. The finish is long and creamy. A rich and expressive Shiraz that captures Heathcote power while maintaining freshness and control.” – Russ Gallagher

91+ POINTS – BRENDAN BLACK

“This wine is a steak-lover’s dream. It’s big and brash and shines when paired with protein (even a roast chook or spicy tofu would go well with it). There’s lots of plum, tangy boysenberry, black cherry and black pepper, with a dash of smoke. It’s still quite young, so either have it with your dinner or give it a few more years to even out. Also 10% Cabernet Sauvignon in the mix. Drink: 2026 – 2029.”

90 POINTS – JENI PORT

“The name says it all really. A Heathcote Shiraz built specifically for matching with porterhouse steak. With Heathcote more than capable of delivering depth of flavour with good, solid structure. The colour is deep and intense purple – very Heathcote – and alive in aromas of black plum, dark cherry, blackberry, earth, toasted spices. Palate is juicy and supple with nicely honed tannins in place. A light layering of undergrowth adds that extra something.”

93 POINTS – TONY LOVE

“From Victoria’s Heathcote region comes this Shiraz with a bold and robust nature. There’s big, rich, dark fruit flavours, a swag of oak, French and American you’d wager, with a heap of black pepper spice for just that little bit more in the guts and determination department. Hold onto your hats!”

92 POINTS – RAY JORDON

“The earthy ironstone regionality of Heathcote certainly emerges, first on the nose where it supplements the dark berry and spicy plummy blackberry notes, and then on the palate where it balances the generous peppery, slightly vanillin fruit characters. This is simply a wine you’ll want to tuck into. And as the name suggests, a nice slab of red meat would be just the ticket.”

91 POINTS – GARGETT

Nothing subtle here and I have no doubt that that was the intention. Definitely a steak wine, the bigger, bolder and rarer the better. Opaque purple in colour, the nose gives us aromas of dark chocolate, aniseed, warm earth, blackberries, animal hides and mulberries. There are very fine, sleek tannins on the finish of a wine of medium length, which is well balanced throughout.

90 POINTS – HALLIDAY WINE COMPANION 2026

“This particular ‘porterhouse’ is not so much bold as juicy fresh and lively in black and red fruits, with immediate drinking enjoyment in mind. Combines extract and mouthfeel with plum, dark fruits and black cherries, liquorice, toasted spice, earth, undergrowth. The palate is dense, juicy and even. Light the barbie and get the wine glasses ready. Drink: 2026 – 2030.”
